These works come directly from Viagra solicitations I've been receiving in my website's email spam folder. Presented as a consolidated text, they exist as an awkward, post-grammatical body of work, undoubtedly generated by a "poetic algorithm".

Through their affiliation with junk-mail and erectile dysfunction, this collection subjectively describes our existence, as if would be defined by a randomly-generating electronic code. The internet's anonymous exploitation of our inherent sexual desires and frustrations.
